

Laboratory quality management system training toolkit

About this training toolkit

Training laboratory managers, senior biologists, and technologists in quality management systems is a step towards obtaining international recognition; it is a step that all countries should take. This training toolkit is intended to provide comprehensive materials that will allow for designing and organizing training workshops for all stakeholders in health laboratory processes, from management, to administration, to bench-work laboratorians.

Access to the training toolkit here

Laboratory Quality Management System Training Toolkit